HABIT TRACKER

Keeping a habit is tough. We totally get it, there will be sometimes you and me all need a little bit push from our back, something that gently remind us to keep on track.

But it's hard to find someone perfectly fit that role -- Mom is always bothering, friends are too busy, mobile apps? Hard to use, high power and data consumption, take time to set up.

A Minimalism and Efficient Habit Tracker is what you need

EASY TO USE

Climb up the learning curve is hard. Learning how to use an extremely fancy app could bring us headache. Sometime we only want an app that directly to the point, clear and stick to it main purpose. That's what we do, clear yet intuitive UI, easy to use, care about your habits and also only care about your habits.

EFFICIENT

Your time is valuable. We care about efficiency and we don't want you spend more time on tracking than keeping the habit. As long as you clicked on our app, everything you need for today is there. Most of the frequent user activities could be finished on the main page, focus on habits and don't waste your time here.

SHAREABLE

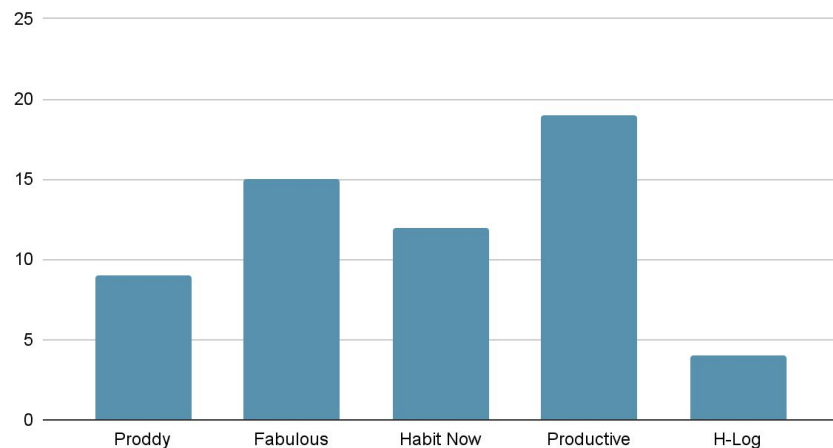

Motivation is important. You could share your effort with friends, let them see how hard you are working with a selfie or location. Enjoy that sense of accomplishment to encourage yourself, or being motivated by your friend if they move faster than you.

OUR COMPETITORS

There are plenty of habit trackers in Google Play Store, most of them required users to answer a list of personal questions before they could access the app. We have tested the top four apps.

Also some of them can only share events to third party apps, which is troublesome if you only want to share with friend in meat world.
